Highlights:

- The Steiner 450 is the new standard in power, versatility and performance.
- It's perfect for climbing hills and slopes that other machines simply can't handle.
- Its articulating and oscillating frame make it perfect for tight turning and uneven terrain.
- The easy-to-use Quick-Hitch attachment system and more than 20 attachments make it a year-round workhorse.

JOHNSON CREEK, Wis. (January 19, 2017) – Steiner, manufacturer of high quality tractors and attachments, launched a new chapter in its legacy by introducing the new Steiner 450 tractor. The company unveiled it to dealers, media and consumers via a live-streaming online press conference.

The Steiner 450 tractor is completely re-engineered to provide even more power, versatility and dependability to users in residential, farm, golf, municipal, landscape and sports turf industries. The tractor boasts an articulating frame, giving it a tight turning radius of only 43.5 inches. The frame also oscillates, keeping the operator upright and in control even on the most uneven terrains. With plenty of power, excellent traction, a low center of gravity and wide stance, it's built for maintaining hill terrain and operating where other tractors typically can't.

The new 450 tractor's value is in the versatility, and the Quick-Hitch™ System makes it easier than ever to switch between 25+ attachments. The lift arms are 50 percent stronger, so you can change attachments in minutes without any tools. So when you go from digging fence posts to hauling mulch, there's virtually no downtime between tasks.

To power this machine's top-level performance, customers can choose from three reliable engines: a Kubota® 25-horsepower, liquid-cooled diesel; a Kubota® 32-horsepower, liquid-cooled gasoline; or a 37-horsepower Vanguard EFI™ air-cooled gasoline engine.

A new, stacked gear pump design dramatically increases durability, hydraulic performance and efficiency. It also offers increased oil cooler capacity and reduced drive system pressure. Providing 1,750 PSI of steering and lift pressure for more hydraulic power, it can handle the toughest chores.

The Steiner 450 tractor is packed with other features, including:

- Integrated, fully-adjustable hydraulic weight transfer system
- Durable Peerless® 2600 dual range transaxles
- Ground speeds up to 6 mph in low gear and 9.5 mph in high gear
- Large operator platform and conveniently located controls
- Bright, efficient LED headlights and taillights
- More standard features including rollover protection and rear skid plates

“This machine is a game-changer for us at Steiner, but more importantly, it'll change how people get their jobs done,” said Matt Donohue, Brand Director. “We've listened to our customers, and we've been imagining and developing an even more powerful machine to tackle tough tasks day after day. Today, we're excited to see it finally come to life and give our customers what they've been waiting for.”
